

WIND SPIRIT TEACHINGS

“GIVEAWAY”

“Children are taught early to give that which they treasure the most, that they might learn the gift of giving” The Ancient Ones The idea of Giving Away was a way of honoring the person receiving. It was a way of showing that the more you give away, the wealthier you become in Spirit. It is an act of beauty and love. It comes down to this, it is the act of giving freely, without attachment. I encourage folks to give something that is meaningful, something that means something to them. Something that is a bit difficult for them to part with, but that they are now ready to let go of. It should be an item of a personal nature. Something they treasure. It is an act of Spiritual maturity to be able to ‘move on’ from something that one has been attached to. You do not give something you just need to get rid of, or something that is just taking up room. You do not give something you just picked up in a yard sale. Only the person giving can determine what their give-away means to them, and that is the whole purpose, that it has meaning to you. It is a lesson of the Heart. The Give-Away Ceremony is a personal and profound experience. The mere idea of giving something personal away begins to stir deep emotion within me. Already it is teaching me. The lesson is already happening. The actual participation in the ceremony is deeply moving. Remember, it is an act of kindness, love, and honoring the Spirit.
